Letter Transmitting Report of the Adjutant General.

HEADQUARTERS MARYLAND NATIONAL GUARD,
Adjutant General's Office,

ANNAPOLIS, December 31, 1901.

To His Excellency the Governor of Maryland, and to the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of Maryland.

SIRS: In accordance with the requirements of article 65, section 39, Public General Laws of Maryland, I have the honor to submit herewith the fiscal reports of this department for the years 1900 and 1901, together with a detailed statement showing the amount and condition of the State property in possession of the National Guard, and also a statement of the United States property for which it is accountable, as well as a full report of the Commander of the First Brigade, and other reports relative to the condition of the Guard, and other information incident to the military department of the State.

A copy of the fiscal report for the year 1900 was submitted to the Governor, as required by law, at the expiration of that year, and copies furnished to the financial officers of the State.

Armories.

This is a subject of much importance to the State and National Guard generally, and I would call special attention to the necessity of providing suitable buildings for the preservation of the property of the United States, for which the State is responsible, as well as State property.

The 1st Regt. Inf'y, M. N. G., is composed of companies situated in different sections of the State, in localities offering few buildings suitable for armories; however, under section 46, article 65, "Militia," Public General Laws, buildings have been leased and everything permitted by the money appropriated used to make them serve the purpose. It is, however, to be regretted that a sufficient amount is not available to build suitable armories in these towns, so that the commands may feel they have a place to drill, keep their equipments, etc.

The 4th Regt. Inf'y, M. N. G. This command has an armory situate in Baltimore city, conveniently arranged, but too small for regimental movements. It is to be regretted that there is a large debt due the contractor on this building. The city of Baltimore has a large interest, the State also has an interest for money appropriated, the contractor a lien for work done, as also a ground rent ; so it can be seen how complicated is its condition. It is to be hoped the next General Assembly may see that this may be straightened out and a clear title obtained by the State under a plan which will be submitted, and when carried out, the State will own a building, in fee, at a figure much less than a building and ground could now be bought and built upon. It is earnestly recommended that favorable report may be made as to the placing of this building, in fee, to the State.

5th Regt. Inf'y, M. N. G. This regiment is now located at Armory on Howard street. The building is the property of the city, and although too small, is so arranged to give sufficient space for care of United States and State property and other purposes. The State has appropriated a sum of $300,000 for the erection of a new armory, and the commission appointed by the Act of Assembly have purchased the ground and contracted for the partial erection of the building. There will be a deficit of at least $100,000 to complete it according to the plans, and it is to be hoped this amount will be given. When completed the State will own in fee simple one of the finest and largest armories in the United States, and at a cost of $400,000, about one-half the cost of armories in large cities like New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Moreover, this building will be of great service to the city of Baltimore and State, as a hall seating upwards of 15,000 persons, where, if needed, a National Convention could be held, thereby drawing thousands to the city and State, when its great advantage as a commercial centre would be shown.

Troop A, M. N. G. This command has no armory or drill hall. A small room at the Confederate Home near Pikesville, Md., is rented for the purpose of storing the property of the command, and affords little protection on account of its space. Equipments, etc., have to be issued to individual troopers instead of being kept at armory, thereby taking from the care and supervision of the officers the uniforms, etc., and for which they are responsible. Not having an Armory or Riding Hall is a great hindrance to the efficiency of this command, as they lose at least six months of drill during winter months, when they should receive instructions of the most important duties of a trooper in sabre and target practice and other duties. The fine personnel and the credit this command has shown in the parades in Washington and other cities, where they have equalled the regulars, merit the approval of all, and it is the hope the General Assembly may in some way recognize their worth and usefulness to the State by giving them a suitable place and building where they may take care of the property entrusted to them and further perfect themselves in the duties of a trooper, so important for their effectiveness.

Encampment.

The Annual Encampment of the Guard for 1900 was not held on account of the shortness of the amount on hand of the appropriation, it having been used in equipping the Guard, but on the 13th of July, 1901, the Brigade encamped near Queenstown, Md., the Board of Officers detailed to select a suitable location having recommended it. The camp continued until July 20, 1901, and proved a most creditable one, although the first two days was spent in a deluge of rain. For a more detailed account of its workings I refer to the account of Brigadier General L. Riggs, commander 1st Brigade, M. N. G. Some new features were inaugurated in the arrangement and construction of the camp, such as cooking and placing of company kitchens between line of officers' tents and company streets. This arrangement proved very successful, and there was no complaint, as far as reported, as to the food furnished and cooked. The water arrangements were all that could be desired, and its quality proved, after an analysis, first-class in every respect. The report of the Chief Medical Officer demonstrates this. Commissary supplies were purchased under the Brigade Commissary, and his report, accompanying General Riggs' report, gives in detail the ration and cost. I cannot but here express my thanks to Major Cole, the Brigade Commissary, for his untiring efforts and his success in his arduous duties, as there was no fault anywhere, but on the contrary praise from officers and men as to rations issued.

To Major C. V. Starkloff, Chief Paymaster First Brigade, is also due much praise for his zeal, attention and success in the payment of the troops. A detailed statement of the said payments will be found in the Report of the Brigade Commander.

The camp was erected by the men of the Guard, with exception of carpenter work, a detail of men of the 1st Separate Company being employed under Captain Pennington, Quartermaster 4th Regiment, and Regimental Quartermaster J. C. Marshall, 1st Regiment, and a large amount in construction was saved in this way over comparison with former camps. All tents, floors and water pipes were put up under their instruction, and the work can be estimated when it is known they erected and floored over a thousand tents, laid over 3,000 feet of piping and supervised the building of kitchens, stables, outhouses, etc. Great credit is to be given Captain Pennington, and especially Sergeant Marshall, for their untiring efforts, they giving over six weeks of their services, day and night, to the accomplishing the success of the Camp.

The Camp was broken July 20, and was entirely removed by the same untiring efforts of Captain Pennington and Sergeant Marshall, the latter remaining until every vestage of property was removed safely to the city or stored near Queenstown.

I cannot too strongly call the attention of the Governor and the members of the General Assembly to the necessity of a permanent encamping ground, as fully demonstrated by the heavy loss to the State in material, which has to be disposed of at the end of the encampment. It fully reaches between $3,000 and $4,000. The amount expended by the State in temporary camps would have paid for ground and built buildings which would have been permanent and have relieved the transportation of tents, stores, laying of water mains, building of kitchens, stables, out-houses, etc., and other expenses, and provided for storage of much of the property which now has to be moved at heavy expense. I cannot, therefore, too urgently advise the appropriation of a sum, say $10,000, for the purchase of a tract of land for the establishment of a State Camping Ground and Rifle Range, the latter being a necessity for a well organized, disciplined Guard.

Rifle Practice and Range.

It is with regret that I cannot speak of any regular practice of the Guard. This is accounted for by reason of there not being a State range. Through the courtesy of the commanding officer at Fort McHenry the range has been offered to the Guard for practice, and the 5th Regiment have availed themselves of the offer on Saturday afternoons. The armories of the 4th and 5th Regiments have indoor ranges, but have been used only as a means of instruction as to use of the rifle. Consequently it is not to be expected that the Guard should turn out marksmen or sharpshooters to compete with other States having all the facilities of practice at short as well as long ranges. However, the pride of some of the Guard has induced them to practice as well as possible, they requesting to be allowed to enter into competition with the Guards of other States at Sea Girt, N. J. To this I have given a favorable reply, and allowed a team from the 5th Regiment, under Major L. Rawlins, and one from Troop A, under Captain Shirly, to visit Sea Girt in 1900 and again in 1901, where they did remarkable work and received the congratulations from General Spencer, Inspector Rifle Practice of New Jersey, for their efficient work under such unfavorable conditions as to practice, their general pluck and especially good conduct and soldierly bearing. A full report of Major Rawlins and Captain Shirley will be found attached to this report. In this connection I would urge that some definite action be taken for the establishment of a rifle range in connection with a permanent encamping ground, where the members of the National Guard be taught the use of the rifle in short as well as long ranges. I respectfully call attention to the Report of Major Josiah Pierce, Jr., Chief of Ordnance First Brigade Staff, on this subject. In this connection attention is also called to the Report on Rifle Practice, etc., accompanying the Report of the Brigade Commander.

Maryland has always had the reputation of fine marksmen from the day of the Revolution until the disbanding of the famous "Haymaker Team," and it is not desired the State should be behind, but equal at least in the matter of rifle and pistol practice in contests with other States.

Claim of the State Against the United States Government.

By an Act of the last General Assembly the matter of claims of the State against the United States for supplies, etc., furnished the government at the time of the Spanish-American War was intrusted to General L. Allison Wilmer, who, I suppose, will report in detail what has been accomplished in this matter.

In the matter of the reimbursement of the National Guard for the clothing taken into the volunteer service of the government at the beginning of the Spanish-American War, and which was thereafter paid for by the government, under a compromise, and the amount deposited in the State Treasury and not to the credit of the National Guard fund (a full explanation of which will be found elsewhere under the title of "Supply Department"), I can not too strongly urge the passage of a bill by the Legislature restoring to the National Guard fund the amount returned by the government. As the matter stands the Guard is deprived not only of the clothing which it had, but also of the money paid for it, and it was forced, therefore, at the close of the war to use a very large part of its annual appropriation for the purpose of equipment. This peculiar condition of affairs has been fully and carefully explained to the financial officers of the State and to the Board of State Aid and Charities, and it but remains for the Legislature to authorize the return to the Guard fund of this amount to which it belongs.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENTS.

Quartermaster and Ordnance.

At the breaking out of the Spanish-American war, the National Guard of Maryland was fairly well equipped. All clothing, arms, equipments and tentage (except such as were comparatively worthless and unfit for issue), then in possession of the State, was invoiced to and receipted for by the proper representatives of the National Government. The arms, equipments and tentage have been returned; the clothing, amounting in value to $20,874.51, after a compromise agreed upon by the auditor for War Department and Governor Smith's predecessor, was settled for by the United States in the sum of $10,341.47. This amount ($10,341.47) was turned over to the State Treasury instead of being deposited to the credit of the National Guard, thereby depriving this office of the means of reclothing the Guard, except by recourse to the current appropriation, which, under the circumstances, was totally inadequate to meet the current expenses of the Guard and at the same time provide sufficient clothing to uniform the Maryland volunteers upon their return to the State and resumption of their duties as National Guardsmen. Yet, notwithstanding this drawback, my predecessor, General L. Allison Wilmer, instructed his Acting Quartermaster General to advertise for bids and contract for sufficient clothing to uniform the enlisted strength of the Fifth Regiment, and the first and second battalions of the Fourth, Infantry, M. N. G. This work has been continued under my direction, until, to day, I take much pride in pointing to the fact that the National Guard of Maryland was never better armed, clothed and equipped than at present.

In addition, a warehouse has been procured and a State arsenal established, wherein all clothing, arms and equipments not required for immediate issue is stored and properly cared for. A system of exchange has also been provided by which all unserviceable and misfit clothing and equipage is taken in and exchanged. All unserviceable clothing so exchanged, if worth it, is repaired, cleaned and reissued; such articles as cannot be repaired and put in a serviceable condition are submitted to a board of officers and disposed of as directed—usually sold. Unserviceable United States property is also submitted for the action of a board of officers and disposed of as directed by the Secretary of War.

The following tabular statement exhibits, by comparison, the principal articles of uniform and equipments on hand July 1, 1898, and the quantities of the same articles on hand December 31, 1901. This statement does not include any portion of the officers' uniform, of which 80 blouses, 41 overcoats, 87 pairs trousers, 81 forage caps and 66 pairs shoulder straps have been purchased and issued at a total cost of $4,405:

Total value of property on hand July 1, 1898..	$16,904 33	Total value of property on hand Dec. 31, 1901..	$139,395 35

The above tabular statement of property on hand December 31, 1901, as compared with the same articles in possession of the State July 1, 1898, includes only such articles of clothing, arms, equipment, tentage, etc., as would be required for strictly field service in case of need. The State's total accountability will be found in the accompanying table, which shows in detail amounts on hand December 31, 1899; amounts received since, as also losses by condemnation, expenditures, etc., together with its whereabouts ("in whose possession"), the total value of which aggregates the sum of $282,404.35, subdivided as follows:

State property (for use of land force)	$62,900 04
State property (for use of naval force)	5,520 00
U. S. property (for use of land force)	93,638 31
U. S. property (for use of naval force)	120,346 00
Total	<hr/> $282,404 35

Snitable property returns have been provided by this office, and each officer accountable for public property is required to account semi-annually for every article intrusted to his care. That this work entails a vast amount of labor, both clerical and manual, to look after and care for so large an amount of public property, is apparent without entering into details, and it is a source of much pride and gratification to me that this work is systematically and thoroughly done, thereby saving to the State and National Government from losses, by carelessness and otherwise, much valuable property in the course of a year.

I take pleasure in recording the fact that the Regimental Quartermasters and Regimental Ordnance Officers of the several regiments have not only performed their duties in a very creditable and satisfactory manner, but have rendered this office much valuable assistance as well, by forwarding their several returns promptly, when due.

Roster and Descriptive List.

Attention is respectfully called to the Roster of commissioned officers appearing at the back of this report. It was first published a year ago, the first time in the history of the State, and is the result of a large amount of careful work. That it does not contain a full record of all the officers is due to their failure to report their past service.

I have also caused to be prepared and kept in my office a roster and descriptive list of all the men composing the Maryland

National Guard. Such a record has never heretofore been kept in the Adjutant General's office. From it may be told at a glance the name, place of birth, occupation, length of service and physical description of a soldier, together with other information valuable as a means of identity and in case of emergency. An inspection of these and other records kept in this office is respectfully invited.

Naval Brigade.

This organization has received little attention from the State, and its workings are scarcely known. The last Legislature embodied it in the Maryland National Guard and authorized its enlargement to six divisions instead of four, I am sorry to say, without making any allowance in the appropriation for the equipment or maintenance of the increase. From actual experience and the closest economy, it has been found out that the appropriation is entirely inadequate, and more especially now when the Navy Department positively declines to keep up the repairs of the property loaned the State, which amounts to $120,346, and for which the State is held responsible. The usefulness of this command is beyond estimating, for harbor, bay and shore defence, armed as it is with the most modern arms and guns, and from all responsible and well informed persons who have looked into its workings comes but one expression, that the State should at least take care properly of the property. The United States appropriates $60,000 for the whole Naval Reserves of the United States, which is divided between the States, and this can only be used for arms and equipments for arms, as so constructed by letters from the Navy Department, so it is plain the care, repairs and clothing of the force has to be borne by the State. This appropriation, as before stated, is by actual trial for two years, entirely too small, and I would very urgently request a favorable decision on the appropriation asked for, and thoroughly explained to the Board of State Aid and Charities, and testified to by representative parties of the State when before said Board. For a full statement of property in charge of this organization and the Report of the Commanding and Executive Officers thereof, hereinafter set forth, I most respectfully call attention.

Strength, Etc., of the Guard.

The law allows three regiments of infantry, of twelve companies each, one separate company of infantry, a troop of cavalry and a signal corps, all not to exceed 2,400 men.

Two regiments of infantry, the 4th and 5th, have twelve companies each; the 1st Regiment has eight companies fully organized and equipped and four now in process of organization and equipment, which it is hoped may be accomplished in a short time. The Naval Brigade constitutes a portion of the Maryland National Guard, and is authorized to consist of six divisions. Only four, however, have been organized and equipped.

The following tables give the strength of the Maryland National Guard up to December 1, 1901:

In conclusion, I have the honor to thank the Brigadier-General of the First Brigade and staff officers for their care and attention to their respective duties, as well as the other officers of the Guard, and especially Quartermaster-Sergeant J. C. Marshall, First Regiment, Infantry, detailed in charge of State stores and property, for his zeal, attention and care of property intrusted to him and the compilation of the valuable tables found in this report. Thanks are also due to Mr. M. Barratt Walker, clerk to the Adjutant-General, for valuable service and attention to duties.

Very respectfully,

JOHN S. SAUNDERS,
Adjutant-General.

Report of Commanding Officer First Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.,

BALTIMORE, December 29, 1901.

Adjutant General, State of Maryland,

Annapolis, Md. :

SIR: I have the honor to submit this report of the present condition of the First Brigade and its operations during the years 1900 and 1901, together with reports of the officers of the Brigade Staff of the conduct of the departments under their respective charges.

Upon the recommendation of a Board appointed by you, the Legislature at its session of 1900 amended the State Militia Law in several particulars. The most important of these were requiring physical examination of all applicants for enlistment, providing that inspections of the First Brigade should be made under orders from the Brigade Commander and not from Commander-in-Chief, providing for "discharges without honor" by Commander-in-Chief upon recommendation of commanding officers forwarded through regular channels, and the creation of a retired list for officers who have had nine years' continuous service. Experience has justified the wisdom of all these amendments.

Since the re-equipment of the Guard after the Spanish-American War, there has been a marked improvement in the recognition of responsibility on the part of officers for the care of and accountability for government and State property issued to them. There are still a few cases of neglect, but the provisions of the Militia Law are ample to enforce recovery from responsible persons of the cost of lost property, and also to discipline the delinquents.

The establishment of a standard of physical examination for applicants for enlistment in the State Guard has corrected our previous neglect of a fundamental requirement. The standard is so liberal that it does not increase the difficulties of recruiting, and at the same time is strict enough to prevent the careless officer from enlisting the lame and the halt and the blind. I respectfully suggest the publication in full in your report of the order establishing this standard.

The provision recently made for the conditional re-enlistment of men who have served a term of three years will certainly be of advantage. Under the conditions of National Guard service the average enlisted man can not reach even a modest degree of proficiency with less than three years' experience, so that just as he is ceasing to be a care to his company officers, and is becoming a help by his example to the new men, his term expires and he is in a position to ask for his discharge. Then a new recruit must be found, and there is no let up for the company officers in the weary grind of elementary instruction.

The provision allowing such a man to be re-enlisted for the full term of three years upon the condition that he will receive his discharge upon application made any time after the expiration of one year of such conditional enlistment, is entirely within the requirements of the Militia Law, and it is hoped will induce many to re-enlist who otherwise would be unwilling to bind themselves unqualifiedly for a new term. The average time of service in our Guard has been so short that every proper inducement should be made to retain old men.

At the close of the Spanish-American War the First Regiment, Infantry, consisted of eight companies, namely, "A," "B," "C," "D," "E," "F," "G," and "K."

At the beginning of 1900 the clothing and equipment of Companies "B," "D," "E" and "G" was authorized, and completed by the following spring.

Company "A," at Frederick, has not been reorganized. It is a matter of surprise that in this, one of the most important towns of the State, which formerly prided itself upon possessing the best company in our Guard, so little interest should be shown.

Company "C," at Cumberland, has not been reorganized. Several attempts to arouse interest in that city in a military company failed, so the enlisted men were honorably discharged from service, and the Captain and First Lieutenant retained on waiting orders.

Company "F," at Easton, has been mustered out of the service for similar reasons.

Company "K," at Rockville, has similarly remained unorganized. The officers are on waiting orders and the enlisted men have been discharged.

The work of building this Regiment up to its authorized strength was undertaken as soon as the condition of the government and State appropriations warranted it.

In December, 1900, an officer was sent to Frizzellburg to inquire into the advisability of organizing a company there. His report was favorable, and on the 21st of January, 1901, in S. O. No. 5, A. G. O., the organization of Company "H" at that point was announced.

Other companies were similarly mustered in and organized as follows: On 26th March, 1901, Company "L," at Centreville; on 29th March, 1901, Company "M," at Annapolis, and on 10th April, 1901, Company "I," at Salisbury.

This Regiment, so far as organized, is now in better condition than it has ever been in its history. The eight companies are fully equipped, and while some have inadequate armory facilities, all are able to properly care for the property issued to them. The newly elected Colonel, Charles A. Little, of Hagerstown, is a man of military experience, character and energy, and under his administration the command may be counted upon to reach a standard of general efficiency second to none in the State.

During the past two years the Brigade has been assembled more frequently than is usual. On 31st December, 1900, part of the commands participated in the Twentieth Century Celebration held in Baltimore city. On 4th March, 1901, the entire Brigade, with the First Naval Brigade and Fifth Regiment Veteran Corps, was present in Washington and participated in the inaugural parade. And on the 12th of October, 1901, the Brigade took part in the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the monument erected in this city by the Maryland Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

The regular biennial Brigade encampment, as provided by the State law, was held during the past summer at Queenstown from July 13th to 20th inclusive. The site was selected after due consideration and investigation and proved satisfactory. No encampment of the Guard had ever been held in this section of the State nor on the shores of the Bay, so that the citizens of the Eastern Shore had an opportunity of learning by observation something of their military establishment, and the soldiers had offered them an entirely new line of camp amusements. The camp ground was excellent, and no special inconvenience would have resulted from the heavy rains had the ditching been more promptly done. The water supply was beyond criticism, and the transportation facilities were good.

The camp was laid out as provided in the Infantry Drill Regulations, except that the Company kitchens were placed between the tents of the Company officers and the heads of the Company streets. Experience shows this to be the proper arrangement, but a space of at least sixty feet should be left between the line of officers' tents and the kitchens. The camp taken as a whole was the most profitable ever held by the Brigade.

The following table shows the strength of the Brigade on the first and last days of the encampment:

Organizations.	Field Officers.	Staff Officers.	Line Officers.	Enlisted Men.	Totals.		Aggregate.

In June, 1900, I personally inspected the Fourth and Fifth Regiments. The First Regiment was not inspected, as the companies of that command had not been completely re-equipped and reorganized.

On 17th November, 1900, Lieut. Melville W. Rowell, Fifth Cavalry, U. S. A., very kindly, in compliance with my request, was present at the "Field Day" exercises of Troop "A." The day opened with a troop inspection by Lieut. Rowell, at Pikesville, then a march of about two miles to a camp site in Green Spring Valley, where camp was pitched and dinner cooked. Then followed a troop drill, the striking of camp and march back to headquarters. A copy of Lieut. Rowell's valuable report on what he saw was sent to you, but it seems worth while to quote the following paragraph from it:

"The march from the troop parade at Pikesville to the camping site was properly conducted, and upon arrival the troop went into camp in a quiet and business-like manner, which is heartily commended. The horses were promptly unsaddled and picketed, the wagon unloaded, cook-fires started, tents pitched by details, and the midday meal prepared without delay. The method of pitching the conical wall tents devised by Captain Shirley is especially endorsed. I have never seen these tents pitched with greater accuracy. It was observed that the troopers marched without individual 'plunder' and that they confined themselves to the ration at the midday meal. The same business-like methods which attended the establishment of the camp were again noted upon striking camp and moving out for the Pikesville parade in return."

The entire Brigade was inspected in the spring of 1901, by Col. Charles F. Macklin, Inspector General, First Brigade, and his report thereof has been heretofore sent you. The second of the semi-annual inspections required by law is now being conducted by him.

During the past two years some field experience has been gained by detachments from two of the State organizations. In August, 1900, three officers and sixteen men of Troop "A" took a practice march of thirteen days through Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia. The distance covered was 280 miles. The value of this experience is shown in Lieut. Rowell's report. On 27th August, 1901, Company "M," of the First Regiment, took a two days' practice march, and on the 26th September, 1901, Companies "D," "G," "H" and "M," of this regiment, went into camp for three days at Belair. The experience gained on these short outings is very valuable, and it is my purpose to encourage them at every opportunity.

The loyal and intelligent support given me by all the officers of my staff has made possible the improvement generally to be noted in the Guard during the past two years.

Very respectfully,

LAWRASON RIGGS,
Brigadier General.

Report of Adjutant General, First Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.,

EQUITABLE BUILDING,

BALTIMORE, MD., December 15th, 1901.

To the Commanding Officer, First Brigade, M. N. G.,

Baltimore, Maryland.

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following tabulated statement of receipts and disbursements of all moneys received by me, as your Fiscal Officer, accounting from the date of last inspection of my accounts by the Inspector General of the State of Maryland, November 24th, 1899, up to and including the 14th day of December, 1901.

The balance ($54.21) on hand is to meet the current expenses of these headquarters from the 15th to the 31st December, 1901, inclusive.

This statement does not include moneys received by me, but payable to the several commands of this Brigade and others, these headquarters merely acting as the "military channel" for the final settlement of such authorized accounts.

		<hr/> $9,291 71

The foregoing disbursements are supported by proper vouchers prepared in detail, duly receipted by proper persons in each instance, and now filed with the Adjutant General of Maryland.

Very respectfully,

ALLAN McLANE,
Adjutant General.

Report of Inspector General, First Brigade.

BALTIMORE, June 1, 1901.

Brigadier General Lawrason Riggs.

SIR: In obedience to Special Orders No. 13, April 15, 1901, Headquarters First Brigade, M. N. G., I have the honor to submit herewith my report of inspection made in conformity with General Orders No. 4, April 15, 1901, same headquarters.

The strength of the military establishment of the Brigade at the time of this inspection, as compared with that at the last inspection, December 15, 1899, is as follows :

	1901.	1899
Brigade Commander and Staff,	15	16
First Regiment Infantry, M. N. G.,	453	435
Fourth Regiment Infantry, M. N. G.,	659	702
Fifth Regiment Infantry, M. N. G.,	737	733
First Separate Company,	62	63
Troop "A,"	71	58
Signal Corps	13	10
	<hr/> 2010	<hr/> 2017

First Separate Company—CAPT. WM. R. SPENCER, Commanding.

Inspection ordered for 8 P. M., but, as few men were present, assembly was delayed until 8.45 P. M.; from this time until completion of inspection, men came straggling in. Appearance and military bearing of company "fair." Caps not well squared, three men wore yellow shoes, one man was without leggins. Manual of arms "fair." Drill hall too small to admit of company manoeuvres. School of instruction for non-commissioned officers held only twice since last September. Condition of clothing "good."

Ordnance stores in good shape with exception of rifles, several of which were rusty, and one was without a sight; several had old style ones. Company books in excellent condition. Average percentage present during drill year, 88. Percentage present at inspection, 82.

FIFTH REGIMENT I., M. N. G.

COL. FRANK MARKOE, Commanding.

Inspected April 29, 30, May 1, 2, 3.

FIRST BATTALION.

MAJOR GEORGE L. DEICHMAN, Commanding.

Closer attention should be paid by Battalion Commander to Drill Regulations, as commands given were not in strict accordance thereto. Drill only "fair." Firings "poor." Turning of heads, laughing and talking in ranks very noticeable. Execution of Inspection Arms "very poor." Number of men out of uniform.

Company "C"—CAPT. ELBERT THOMPSON.

No School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers held during last drill season. Condition of clothing "good." Manual of arms and company movements "fair." Cadence "very good." Company books up to date and in excellent shape. Average attendance for drill season, 74 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 81 per cent.

Company "M"—CAPT. RIDGELY GAITHER.

School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers held monthly. Condition of clothing "good." Manual of arms "good." Some parts of company drill excellent. Special note was made of correct distance maintained by rear rank men of this Company when marching "Company Front." Company books up to date and correctly kept. Average attendance for drill season, 74 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 95 per cent.

Company "H"—CAPT. E. A. HOLMES.

No School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers. (Excuse recruiting duty.) Clothing, "good condition." Manual and Company movements "fair." Cadence "very good." Books up to date and neatly kept. Average attendance for drill season, 74 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 96 per cent.

Company "F"—CAPT. WASHINGTON BOWIE.

Uniformed with clothing in good condition. School of Instruction held semi-monthly. Manual of arms and Company movements "very good." Distance of rear ranks when marching "Company Front" was correct. Books in good shape and up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 78 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 95 per cent.

SECOND BATTALION.

MAJOR LOUIS M. RAWLINGS, Commanding.

The battalion gave a creditable drill on the whole. Some turning of heads, star gazing and talking in ranks. Commands for movements well given. Battalion well handled. Firings only "fair."

Company "E"—CAPT. JOHN HINKLEY.

School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers not held. Condition of clothing "very good." Manual of arms, company movements and cadence "good." Company books up to date, neat and nicely kept. Receipts of men for clothing not taken. Average attendance for drill season, 73 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 96 per cent.

Company "D"—CAPT. JOHN S. MARKOE.

Held monthly School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers. Company drill "good." Clothing in good condition. Books up to date and excellently kept. Average attendance for drill season, 86 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 74 per cent.

Company "A"—CAPT. R. B. BOWIE.

School of Instruction for commissioned officers held once during year. Clothing in good condition. Manual of arms and company movements "very good." Cadence "good." Books in excellent shape. Average attendance for drill season, 72 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 83 per cent.

Company "K"—CAPT. E. A. MUNOZ.

School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers held monthly. Condition of clothing "good." Manual of arms "poor." Company movements and cadence "fair." Books up to date and neatly kept. Average attendance for drill season, 82 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 90 per cent.

THIRD BATTALION.

MAJOR H. M. WARFIELD, Commanding.

The drill presented by this battalion was "good." Commanding officer handled battalion admirably, performing several well executed movements without any unnecessary loss of time. Firing not up to the standard. As was the case in other battalions, discipline was not satisfactory.

Company "I"—CAPT. N. LEE GOLDSBOROUGH.

School of Instruction occasionally held. Clothing in good condition. Manual of arms "fair." Company movements and cadence "good." Books in good shape and up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 77 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 80 per cent.

Company "L"—CAPT. JESSE SLINGLUFF.

No School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers. Condition of clothing good. Manual of arms and cadence "very good." Company movements "fair." Books up to date and neatly kept. Average attendance for drill season, 61 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 73 per cent.

Company "B"—CAPT. THOMAS S. JANNEY.

School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers not held. Clothing in good condition. Manual of arms "very good." Company movements "good." Cadence "excellent." Books up to date and well kept. Average attendance for drill season, 71 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 83 per cent.

Company "G"—CAPT. C. B. CLOTWORTHY.

School of Instruction held four or five times. Clothing in good shape. Manual of arms and company movements "good." Cadence "very good." Books up to date and properly kept. Average attendance for drill season, 59 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 90 per cent.

FIELD MUSIC.

The appearance made by the field music was excellent, and brings great credit upon Drum Major Czarnowskis. The drill was excellently conducted and performed. Instruments were in neat condition. Attendance at inspection, 97 per cent.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

MAJOR WM. H. CRIM.

Squad room neat in appearance. Field instruments, etc., well taken care of. This officer is deserving of great credit for the able manner in which he has brought his department to such a high state of efficiency. Attendance at inspection, 100 per cent.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT.

CAPT. R. J. MILLER, R. Q. M.

Money accounts were found correct. Books and records neatly and well kept. Property stored in a very systematic manner. His accounts are examined quarterly by Board of Officers of his regiment, who certify as to correctness.

ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT.

CAPT. HENRY B. KEYSER.

Property stored in most systematic manner, and could be turned over to companies in a short space of time without confusion. I was particularly struck with appearance of store room, which reflects great credit to this officer and those under him.

REMARKS ON REGIMENT.

Attendance of Field and Staff at Inspection, 60 per cent.

Closer attention should be given to the drills, as outlined in the Infantry Drill Regulations. Some officers not provided with sword knots. Officers of regiment wear blue ground instead of white in shoulder straps.

Attention is called to paragraph 187, Infantry Drill Regulations, "To Form the Company," no provision being made therein for the rear rank to step back. Closer attention should be paid to the commands for firings. General appearance very good. With such material better results can be obtained. The mistakes made throughout the regiment were most numerous and can be overcome by a closer application to the details of the Drill Regulations, and by School of Instruction for the officers and non-commissioned officers. Record books neatly and correctly kept.

FOURTH REGIMENT I., M. N. G.

LIEUT. COL. J. FRANK SUPPLEE, Commanding.

Inspected May 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10.

First Battalion—LIEUT. COL. J. FRANK SUPPLEE, Commanding.

Battalion late in forming. Handled well, but drill not up to average. Expectorating on floor and gazing in ranks a main feature of drill. Some of the company commanders should familiarize themselves with their duties in the School of the Battalion.

Company "B"—CAPT. G. F. HAUPT.

Held weekly School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers. The appearance and drill of the company was "good."

The Captain shows an extraordinary amount of knowledge of his duties and should have a better drilled company. Clothing in good condition. Books particularly well kept and thoroughly neat. Average attendance for drill season, 56 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 82 per cent.

Company "A"—CAPT. SAMUEL J. BLIGHT.

Recently started School of Instruction. Manual of arms and company movements "good." Cadence "good." Clothing in good condition. Books up to date and neatly kept. Average attendance for drill season, 69 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 66 per cent.

Company "E"—FIRST LIEUT. B. B. GOTTEE.

School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers held once. Manual of arms ragged, but "fair." Company movements "poor." Cadence "fair." Clothing in good shape. Company books up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 57 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 63 per cent.

Company "I"—CAPT. CHARLES R. EVANS.

School of Instruction not held. Condition of clothing "good." Manual of arms "very good." Company movements and cadence good. Books up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 72 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 84 per cent.

SECOND BATTALION.

MAJOR A. W. FUES, Commanding.

Battalion well handled; drill ragged. Late in forming. Number of men out of uniform. Turning of heads and gazing about very noticeable. Discipline in this battalion not what it should be.

Company "L"—CAPT. E. H. J. STESCH.

School of Instruction held regularly. Clothing in good condition. Manual of arms and company movements "very good." Cadence "good." Books up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 63 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 73 per cent.

Company "G"—LIEUT. H. C. M. SUPPLEE.

School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers not held. Clothing in good condition. Manual of arms and company movements "very good." Cadence excellent. Company books up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 60 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 60 per cent.

Company "M"—CAPT. SAMUEL W. FILBERT.

Regularly held School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers. Condition of clothing "good." Manual of arms "fair."

Cadence and company movements "good." Books up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 64 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 72 per cent.

Company "K"—CAPT. HARRY E. HAYNES.

Instruction of non-commissioned officers regularly conducted. Clothing in good condition. Manual of arms and cadence "excellent." Company movements "very good." Company books in order and up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 64 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 95 per cent.

THIRD BATTALION.

CAPT. ROBERT C. CHENOWETH, Commanding.

The Battalion Commander was hardly familiar with duties at ceremony of Inspection of Battalion. Battalion handled only fairly well. Several men out of uniform. Talking and turning heads in ranks very noticeable.

Company "C"—LIEUT. A. S. GILL.

Held School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers. Condition of clothing "good." Manual of arms "good." Company movements "fair." Some cadence, but too fast. Company books up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 72 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 94 per cent.

Company "H"—LIEUT. O. C. CASTLE.

School of Instruction for non commissioned officers was held. Clothing in good shape. Manual of arms, cadence and company movements "fair." Books up to date. Average attendance for drill season, 83 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 96 per cent.

Company "F"—CAPT. H. L. McCULLOH.

School of Instruction for non-commissioned officers held. Clothing in good condition. Manual of arms, company movements and cadence satisfactory, and can be classed as "good." Books up to date and correct. Average attendance for drill season, 73 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 55 per cent.

Company "D"—CAPT. W. C. WESSELS.

School of Instruction for non commissioned officers held. Condition of clothing "good." Manual "fair." Company movements and cadence "fairly good." Books up to date. Average attendance at drill season, 62 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 62 per cent.

FIELD MUSIC.

The appearance, attendance and drill of Field Music was most creditable and deserves the highest praise. Instruments in bright condition. Attendance at inspection, 100 per cent.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT.

CAPT. D. F. PENNINGTON, R. Q. M.

The energy and skill displayed by Capt. D. F. Pennington in the performance of duty entitles him to be classed in the foremost rank of Quartermasters. All property for which he is accountable is stored away with great care. The store rooms are somewhat separated, but all are used to the best possible advantage. Money accounts were examined and found correct. Vouchers neatly filed and books well kept. His accounts are examined regularly by regimental board, certified by endorsement as to correctness.

ORDNANCE.

Rifles were found to be very dirty, some with rust, showing that proper care had not been taken. Other stores in good condition.

REMARKS ON REGIMENT.

Attendance of Field and Staff at Inspection, 100 per cent.

The regiment is very short of officers. Every effort should be made to keep up complement of same, as they are needed to assist in company work. I failed to discover one company whose rear rank kept the proper distance from the front rank. In marching "company front" it was always too great. Firings were poorly executed, and incorrect commands were given. Closer attention should be given to the study of the Drill Regulations with a view of always giving correct commands. Discipline is poor, (talking, gazing, laughing and expectorating in ranks should not be tolerated). Proper care not taken in dressing companies. School for instruction of officers and non commissioned officers should be regularly and systematically held. Armory in good condition.

TROOP "A," M. N. G.

CAPT. JOSEPH W. SHIRLEY, Commanding.

Inspected May 25, 1901.

The drill presented by this, the only mounted organization in the Maryland National Guard, was very good considering the number of times "Troop Drill" had been held this year. The arms and equipment were in excellent condition.

The soldierly bearing and knowledge shown by each individual trooper is deserving of the highest praise and reflects great credit on Captain Shirley and his lieutenants.

The sabre exercises were well executed. A suitable Armory should be provided, as the organization is dependent on the courtesy of the authorities of the Confederate Soldiers' Home for room in which to store its property. Books in neat and satisfactory condition. Average attendance for drill season, 46 per cent. Attendance at inspection, 74 per cent.

In closing my report, I beg to call your attention to the interest shown by both officers and men at this inspection, which is deserving of the greatest credit, and to say, without the slightest idea of criticising, that there is wide room for improvement in the efficiency of the National Guard. The aim of those in the National Guard of this State should be, and I know from the interest taken, is to place it on as high, if not higher, plane of efficiency than that of any other State. This can partly be brought about by a closer application to the drill regulations by the officers.

I would suggest that the attention of commanding officers of regiments and of the First Separate Company be called to paragraphs 487, 497, Infantry Drill Regulations, with a view of whoever may have the honor and pleasure of making inspections in the future may see the "Manual of the Sword" properly executed.

I would suggest that, if practicable, a site be purchased in easy access of the city, to be used solely as a Target Range. It is absolutely essential that a soldier should know how to use his rifle correctly; theoretical instruction in this, as in other matters, is not sufficient; practical knowledge must be given him.

Such a site would incur the expenditure of several thousand dollars, but would be money well and judiciously invested. The Drill Hall of the First Separate Company is entirely inadequate for the purpose. More suitable quarters should be secured.

Percentage of men who came to "inspection of arms" correctly was so small that I refrain from mentioning it.

Very respectfully,

CHARLES F. MACKLIN,
Colonel and Inspector General First Brigade, M. N. G.

Report of Inspector General, First Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.

BALTIMORE, November 29, 1901.

Adjutant General of the First Brigade, M. N. G.,Equitable Building, City:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report of matters pertaining to my department during the encampment at Queenstown, July 13 to 20, 1901:

The ground was admirably adapted for a camp site and consisted of about two hundred acres. Unfortunately a heavy rain set in on the night of the 12th before it was possible to construct any ditches, and the water was almost knee deep in places about the camp of the Fourth Regiment. A system of trenches was dug later on, which carried off the water, and when the sun finally appeared the ground was quickly dried up.

Water of an excellent quality was pumped by a gasoline engine from three driven wells to a 11,000 gallon tank and led through pipes to the entire camp. The supply was sufficient for all demands.

Garbage was collected daily and dumped in a pit some distance from the camp, where it was well limed and dirt then thrown over it. The sinks were well limed and the utmost care taken to prevent any nuisance.

The Company messes, from my observation, were highly satisfactory, and the fare was excellent. The plan of placing tents of captains near their company kitchens is sure to be beneficial, but the distance should be increased somewhat.

The discipline of command was excellent on the whole. From an inspection made at 3 A. M. on the 18th I am able to report that the officers and men on guard duty were most vigilant and understood thoroughly their duties.

The drills improved very noticeably as the time progressed.

The health of the command was excellent.

The review in honor of His Excellency, the Governor of Maryland, was ably executed by all concerned. The dress and steadiness of the men in ranks was of such a high order that all present could not but feel proud of such a fine showing.

I am pleased to report that I noticed a constant improvement in the drills of the regiments and separate organizations. It is to be hoped that in the future the duration of the camp may be two weeks instead of one, as the men no sooner get whipped into shape than camp is broken.

I wish to renew my recommendation that a permanent camp site be chosen by the State.

The camps were all left in a very dirty and bad condition, and I regret to say that the orders given in regard to tying down the flaps were not fully carried out. I would suggest in the future that the commands take down their own tents by a signal from headquarters, and that they all be properly bound up by the men and put in some convenient place where they can be easily collected by wagons.

Target practice, as conducted, was excellent experience for the men. If possible, practice should be held at ranges of greater distance.

Respectfully yours,

CHARLES F. MACKLIN,
Colonel and Inspector General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Report of Chief Surgeon, First Brigade.

BALTIMORE, November 28, 1901.

To the Adjutant General, First Brigade, M. N. G., Baltimore, Md.

SIR: I have the honor to make the following report of the Medical Department of the First Brigade, M. N. G., for the past year. I take pleasure in incorporating in my report the enclosed recommendation of Major Crim, Fifth Regiment, M. N. G., which I most heartily endorse, and would respectfully suggest that its recommendations be carried out as far as possible. The enclosed report of the work of the Hospital Corps of the Fifth Regiment during the encampment of the Brigade at Camp Smith, I also forward, as it gives better than I could give it, the work of our Department during the encampment. It also contains some recommendations which I most heartily endorse, and would suggest that, as far as practicable, they be carried out.

So far as the work for the year is concerned, we have had very little to do except during the encampment at Camp Smith. Here the First Regiment Medical Department was in rather a crippled condition, owing to the presence of only one surgeon, Major Claude. There is no Medical Corps organized in this regiment, and I would respectfully suggest that steps be taken as early as possible toward the organization of such a corps.

The Fourth Regiment has made an attempt, under Major Ullrich's supervision, toward the formation of a Hospital Corps in that regiment, but owing, I understand, to certain disagreements and misunderstandings among the officers of the regiment, its development has been much interfered with. They turned out only a few men at Camp Smith. I would respectfully suggest that in this regiment, as well as in the First, an efficient corps be organized along the lines suggested in Major Crim's recommendation.

So far as the Fifth Regiment is concerned, Major Crim has, after the expenditure of much thought, time and energy, organized a Hospital Corps that would be a credit to any regiment. His zeal, energy and good judgment displayed in this work, I take great pleasure in commending to your consideration, and it gives me great pleasure to endorse most heartily the enclosed recommendations directed toward increasing the efficiency of the Medical Department of the service.

Very respectfully,

JOHN M. T. FINNEY, M. D.,
Colonel and Chief Surgeon, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Report of Chief Quartermaster, First Brigade.

CHIEF QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT, FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.

BALTIMORE, November 20, 1901.

*Col. Allan McLane, Adjutant General,
First Brigade, M. N. G., Baltimore, Md.*

SIR: In reply to your favor of the 19th instant, I have the honor to enclose copy of a letter dated February 23, 1901, addressed to the General commanding First Brigade, covering movement of troops to and from Washington at the time of the inauguration last March. You will recall that all the details and arrangements were made at your headquarters.

Very respectfully,

C. R. SPENCE,
Major and Chief Quartermaster, First Brigade, M. N. G.

First Separate Company will leave via same road at the same time.

Fifth Regiment will leave Washington, Pennsylvania Railroad, at 1 A. M., March 5th.

First Regiment will leave Washington, Pennsylvania Railroad, 10 P. M., March 4th.

Company "D," First Regiment, will leave Baltimore 7.40 A. M., on the morning of March 5th, via Baltimore and Lehigh Railway, arriving Bel Air 9.10 A. M.

Company "H," First Regiment, will take the 4.35 A. M. train, Western Maryland Railroad, March 5th, Union Station, arriving Westminster 5.40 A. M. They will transfer at Union Station from Pennsylvania Railroad coach to Western Maryland Railroad coach.

Company "E" will be conveyed to Elkton on the first train leaving Union Station after the arrival of their train at Baltimore.

Very respectfully,

(Signed),

C. R. SPENCE,

Major and Chief Quartermaster.

P. S.—Transportation will be furnished to the captains of the different companies of the First Regiment by the chief quartermaster's requisition on the different station agents.

Transportation from Baltimore to Washington will be furnished in due course to the various commands.

Combination coaches will be provided for the officers' baggage for each command.

Report of Acting Chief Quartermaster, First Brigade.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT, FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.

BALTIMORE, November 18, 1901.

Adjutant General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

SIR: I have the honor to herewith submit report of the business of the Chief Quartermaster's Department at Camp Smith, held at Queenstown, Md., July 13th to 20th, inclusive.

In compliance with Special Orders No. 22, A. G. O., First Brigade, dated July 17, 1901, proceeded to Queenstown, and in connection with the Quartermaster General's Department and a detachment of the First Separate Company, Camp Smith was erected in accordance with plans submitted by the Brigadier General commanding.

Under General Orders No. 11, A. G. O., First Brigade, M. N. G., my title was changed from Assistant to Chief Quartermaster, to Acting Chief Quartermaster, and with verbal orders from the Brigadier General commanding. The duties of the office were executed to the best of my ability.

Arrival of Troops.

Pursuant to General Orders No. 10, A. G. O., First Brigade, M. N. G., the troops arrived at Queenstown, Saturday, July 13, 1901, in the following order:

Fourth Regiment, 3.30 A. M., via Steamer Queen Anne.

Company "L," First Regiment, 9.15 A. M., on foot.

Company "I," First Regiment, 9.45 A. M., via Q. A. R. R.

Fifth Regiment, 10.20 A. M. via Steamer Queen Anne.

Companies "G" and "M," First Regiment, 1.50 P. M., via U. S. Steamer Sylvia.

Companies "R," "D," "E" and "H," First Regiment, 3.20 P. M., via The Endeavor.

First Separate Company, 6.25 P. M., via Steamer Queen Anne.

Stores and Baggage.

The transportation of regimental stores and baggage from the pier of the Queen Anne's Railroad Company to the camp ground was accomplished without delay and to the apparent satisfaction of Commanding Officers and Quartermasters.

Cots.

The new style cots secured from the United States Government for the use of the enlisted men were issued on the 13th of July (during a rainstorm that continued almost the entire day). The cots were saturated with water, and after the men had placed them in their tents and tested them their comments were universally favorable.

The Fourth and Fifth Regiments should be provided with cots for their bands.

Quartermaster's Teams.

Under the authority of the Brigadier General commanding this department hired six two-horse farm wagons, which were sufficient to supply all the demands made. The cost of teams at Camp Smith was $5 per day per team.

In this connection it would be well to look into the procuring of wagons and trucks from the United States Government to supply the requirements of the Brigade; their use would be a decided financial saving. Six wagons and two trucks will be sufficient.

Bands and Field Music.

In the original laying out of the camp the standard plan was followed and no provisions were made for the quartering of the Bands and Field Music in a separate street.

The Brigadier General commanding, at the request of the Commanding Officers of the Fourth and Fifth Regiments, ordered two tents taken from the foot of each Company street and an additional street formed by the erection of the tents for the use of the musicians. As no provision is made by the General Government for musicians, other than those attached to companies, provision should be made, if possible, before the next encampment for the extra tentage to shelter Bands and Field Music.

Horses and Stables.

The stabling for the horses of the commands was not what it should have been; protection against the intense heat of the sun and rain was inadequate.

This was not from neglect on the part of those in charge of placing the encampment, but due to the scarcity of canvas and lumber.

In the erection of stables for an encampment greater care should be exercised.

At Camp Smith there were many valuable horses, whose owners placed them at livery in preference to running risks of injury in the exposed stabling.

The State should erect suitable stables or require mounted officers to take personal charge of their horses.

In the case of the Cavalry Troop the State must erect the stabling, because there are many very valuable horses owned by the enlisted men in the command, and the State makes but small compensation for their use.

Water Supply.

The supply of water was at all times in excess of the demand, and of most excellent quality, and was supplied from three driven wells coupled together, and the water lifted to a tank of 11,000 gallons capacity by a gasoline engine.

The piping of the camp was the best and most convenient in the history of the guard ; the drainage was not what was expected, but much of the offensive appearance of "Sloppyness" could have been removed by greater care.

Garbage.

The disposition of garbage for the first three days of camp was quite troublesome, especially to the medical department.

On the second day of camp this department, on order, took personal charge of the removal of garbage, etc.

A pit of twenty feet by twenty feet, and eight feet deep, was dug about half mile from camp, and twice each day, at 8 A. M. and 7 P. M., the refuse matter was hauled out and dumped, and with the liberal use of lime all offensive odor was prevented.

At future camps a crematory should be built and all refuse matter burned ; the expense in this direction would be small in comparison to the benefits derived.

Quartermaster's Stores.

From my experience at Camp Smith I believe that the Quartermaster's Department, so far as the issuing of stores is concerned, should be entirely under the control of either the Quartermaster General or the Chief Quartermaster of the Brigade. As there is but one Brigade in the State I think it should be the latter.

The Quartermaster General's Department should surrender stores and take receipts for same from Chief Quartermaster.

Servants.

Increased accommodations should be provided for colored cooks and servants.

It became necessary in some cases for the colored cooks to be assigned tents in the company streets, whilst hostlers and personal servants slept in with the horses or in the tents of their officers.

The few tents that were issued (ten to a regiment) were occupied by the caterers and their assistants before the regiments arrived.

Twenty tents should be allowed each regiment for the use of servants.

Company Streets.

In the erection of tents for company use, I suggest as desirable, that the tents should be all placed on one side of a company street and each company held strictly responsible for the policing of its street from the rear line of its tents to the back of the tents in front of them. This would prevent the practice in force at Camp Smith of dumping rubbish of one company on the streets of its neighbor and the blame resting on the innocent party.

Expense of Chief Quartermaster's Department.

The expense of setting up and breaking camp being under the direction of the Adjutant General of the State, this department is unable to give figures as to cost; $100.00 was expended under the direction of the Brigadier General for labor in ditching, etc.

Departure of Troops.

General Orders No. 20, A. G. O., First Brigade, M. N. G., relating to departure of troops, as far as this department was concerned, was executed promptly, and all regimental and company property and baggage loaded ready for departure on time.

With the departure of the troops my duties as Acting Chief Quartermaster ceased and I again resumed the office of Assistant to the Chief Quartermaster. In this capacity I remained at Queenstown until August 2, 1901, and assisted in the breaking of camp and shipping of stores to Baltimore.

Very respectfully,

D. F. PENINGTON,
Capt. and Q. M. Fourth I., M. N. G.
Acting Chief Q. M. First Brigade, M. N. G.

Report of Chief Commissary, First Brigade.

COMMISSARY DEPARTMENT FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.,

BALTIMORE, MD., Nov. 23, 1901.

To the Adjutant General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Baltimore, Md.

SIR: In obedience to your instructions, dated November 8, 1901 (No. 3563), I have the honor to submit my report of the Commissary Department at Camp Smith, Queenstown, Md., July 13th to 20th, inclusive.

The number of enlisted men, musicians and servants to whom rations were furnished is shown in statements "A" and "B."

In addition to this there were an average of eighteen men for fifteen days erecting camp, and fifteen men averaging twelve days breaking camp, packing public property, etc., making a total number of men so employed in the Pioneer Corps equivalent to 450 days' work of one man. To these were furnished from this department rations amounting to $213.50.

To the Naval Brigade rations amounting to $37.02 were furnished on order of the Adjutant General of the State.

The total amount expended for subsistence, department labor and incidentals was $3,972.53, from which should be deducted the amount furnished the Pioneer Corps, $213.50, and the amount furnished the Naval Brigade, $37.02, a total of $250.52, making the net amount expended for rations, etc., for the camp proper, $3,722.01.

The total number of daily rations issued was 13,556, at a cost of 27.46 cents per single ration.

The daily average cost at Frederick encampment (Camp Lowndes) in 1896, including servants, was 22.99 cents per ration. While the cost of a single ration was somewhat more at this encampment than at Frederick, it was more than offset by the saving in hiring stoves and also in the purchase of lumber for and the building of the large mess sheds heretofore used by the Brigade in former encampments.

The increased cost of supplies and the wet and disagreeable weather encountered throughout the major part of the encampment added no little to the increase per capita. But considering the universal satisfaction given by each company messing separately, the absence of the usual complaints and the instructions given the men in caring for themselves, it was, in the judgment of this department, well worth the additional cost.

The next encampment, under more normal conditions, will undoubtedly show a material reduction in costs in this department.

It would add very much to the efficiency of this department, in my opinion, if we had at each camp a building sufficiently large to hold all supplies and not be compelled to keep many of the heavier rations outside, subject to loss by the elements and from other causes.

I am pleased to state that I received the cordial support of the various commissaries and of my assistants, who, notwithstanding the numerous obstacles occasioned by the rain and mud, were cheerful under the trying conditions.

Very respectfully,

FRANK W. COALE,
Major and Chief Commissary.

Report of Chief Paymaster, First Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.,

BALTIMORE, MD., November 22, 1901.

To the Adjutant General, First Brigade, M. N. G.,Baltimore, Maryland.

SIR: In compliance with the request of the Brigade Commander, I have the honor to submit herewith my report, covering the operations of the "Pay Department" for the years 1900 and 1901, the records of which, however, I regret to state are very meagre, the reasons for which are specified in connection with the recommendations below.

At the time Company "G," Fourth Regiment Infantry, M. N. G., was ordered to proceed to Bel Air, Md., for the protection of property and life, the chief of this department supervised the preparation of the pay rolls for such services, but they were never presented for payment or returned to this department, and so far as I can learn the warrant for such services rendered was made payable to the officer in command of the detachment. Further than this, I have no recollection of services rendered for which pay was allowed, with the exception of the special detail of the officers who mustered in Company "H," First Regiment Infantry, M. N. G., at Frizzelburg, Md., and such pay as was allowed the Inspector General of the First Brigade. The warrants for services of this character did not pass through this department, nor can I locate receipts or vouchers representing same in the records of the department.

*Services Rendered at Camp Smith, Queenstown, Md.,
July 13 to 20, 1901.*

I have the honor to report the following disbursements for pay covering services rendered by the First Brigade, M. N. G., at Camp Smith, Queenstown, Md., from July 13 to July 20, 1901, (both dates inclusive), authorized by General Orders No. 12, Adjutant General's Office, dated Annapolis, Md., June 10, 1901.

In accordance with paragraph IV of General Orders No. 12, A. G. O., I deducted for such loss of State property, as was reported to me, prior to the accomplishment of the payment of the troops, and forwarded such deductions, amounting to $8.58, to the Adjutant General's Office, under date of August 15, 1901.

By authority of the Adjutant General, State of Maryland, I had printed "Table of rates of pay," for the information of the officers and men of the Brigade, setting forth the pay allowed for "longevity" service, which were duly distributed through regular channels, to commandants of companies and such other officers whose duty it was to compile pay rolls.

For the information of the State authorities I have thoroughly dissected the pay, classifying the same into sub-titles of "Original Pay" and "Increase Pay," the former showing how much would have been expended for pay without allowances for continuous services, the latter showing how much was allowed for such continuous service.

I have also sub-titled the pay for "Cooks" and "Bands," authorized by General Orders No. 8, Headquarters First Brigade, M. N. G., dated June 24, 1901, as well as money allowed for rations to Companies "B," "D," "E," "G," "H," "I" and "M," First Regiment Infantry, M. N. G., authorized by General Orders No. 10, Headquarters First Brigade, M. N. G.; which latter I have sub-titled "Rations."

Recommendations.

I have the honor to respectfully make the following recommendations:

I. "That the Chief Paymaster, First Brigade, M. N. G., together with such officers as are appointed or detailed to collaborate with this department, be bonded, in such sum as may be deemed sufficient to meet the requirements, for the faithful performance of their duties." This is merely in the line of practical and modern business methods, and does not in any way reflect upon the integrity of such officers.

II. "That the 'Militia Law,' State of Maryland, be so amended to provide this department with a clerk, who shall hold the same relative rank of Sergeant as the other non-commissioned officers of the Brigade Staff, to be appointed and warranted by the Brigade Commander." This will enable this department to have available, at all times, a clerk, thoroughly experienced in this line of duty, and will obviate the necessity of depending upon details from the enlisted strength of the Maryland National Guard in the event of the need of a clerk for such services.

III. "That all allowances or pay for services rendered, whether it be for 'Boards' of any character detailed for special purposes or services of the Inspector General of the First Brigade, or in fact where an officer or enlisted man serves, in an official capacity, the purposes of the Maryland National Guard, pass through this department for audit, and the warrants for such services be made payable to the Chief Paymaster, First Brigade, M. N. G., who will be required to keep records of such services rendered, and be held to strict accountability for funds of this nature passing through his department." This will enable the "Pay Department" to keep a separate and distinct record for funds expended for services rendered, and when called upon to make a report will be in a position to furnish such a report in an intelligible manner.

IV. "That, unless the provisions of Section 42 of the militia law, which requires a bond to be given by the commanding officer of a company, are enforced, commandants of companies be furnished with blank certificates setting forth that the enlisted man to whom pay or allowances are due has accounted for all government and State property in his possession. This certificate, when properly filled out and signed by the company commander and surrendered to the Regimental Paymaster, in case of Regiments, or the Chief Paymaster of the First Brigade, in the case of separate or detached companies or details, will entitle such enlisted man to his pay or allowance, less the value of any government or State property lost while in his possession, which latter fact is to be noted on the back of such a certificate." While it is true that the "Pay Department" is separate and distinct from the "Quartermaster's Department," this provision will entail but little additional labor on the part of the former, and will, in a great measure, relieve the responsibility of the latter, in addition to which it will enable the proper authorities to better control the property entrusted to the keeping of the enlisted men.

In making the above recommendations, I do not do so with the view of criticising the present methods employed, but purely with the motive of improving the service generally, and relieving responsibility wherever it is possible.

Very respectfully,

C. V. STARKLOFF,

Major and Chief Paymaster, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Report of Chief of Ordnance, First Brigade.

1325 MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE,

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 27, 1901.

Brig. Genl. Lawrason Riggs,Commanding First Brigade, M. N. G.

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report upon the target practice undertaken during the encampment of the National Guard at Camp Smith, Queenstown, Md.

During the week ending July 20, 1901, 1,284 officers and men of the First, Fourth and Fifth Regiments of Infantry, and Troop "A" of Cavalry of the Maryland National Guard, received instructions in rifle practice, and fired five rounds each at 100 yards range.

Interest in the work was greatly awakened by the generous offer of a cup by the Baltimore Herald to be given to the company making the highest average score at one hundred yards range, and the beneficial effect of this competition cannot be gauged by the limited number of rounds fired, but by the interest aroused by competition, and the benefits derived by witnessing the elementary precautions necessary in the care and use of loaded rifles.

The efficiency of the National Guard in service will depend very greatly upon the self-confidence and experience of the men in the use of their weapons, qualities that can only be developed by continual practice.

As long as the rifle is the adopted weapon for the National Guard the men should be taught to handle and care for it as if it was loaded and ready for use from the moment that it is placed in their hands in the armories or drill ground.

Unfamiliarity with loaded rifles is a positive source of danger to the efficiency of the National Guard, and nothing is more important than that liberal provision should be made for rifle practice.

One of the obstacles that has existed in Baltimore has been the difficulty of securing a suitable rifle range within easy reach of the centre of the city, where officers and men could have ample facilities for rifle practice. As the cost of obtaining a superior range near Baltimore will increase steadily as the city expands, and with the length of ranges required, it becomes more and more urgent each year to secure the necessary land. If, however, facilities for sharpshooting practice at long ranges are postponed, it becomes possible to establish short ranges in almost any locality where the average man and the great majority could receive instructions and practice.

Much could be accomplished with great economy of ammunition, with reduced charges and diminished targets at short, out-of-door ranges, and with facilities for instructing twenty or twenty-five men at one time. The chief source of danger from stray bullets fired with service charges being eliminated, objection could not arise to the establishment of such a range near the heart of the city, at the terminus of any car line. As this subject is of considerable importance, I will endeavor to make it a matter of special report.

During the competition at Camp Smith it was necessary to exercise great caution, as many inexperienced men reported for rifle practice, and untrained men had of necessity to be detailed as markers and upon the firing line.

Four targets were provided for practice with firing lines at one hundred and two hundred yards, and one target for practice at two hundred and three hundred yard ranges.

The men reported at the range by battalions of four companies at a time from each regiment every morning and afternoon except on Monday, when the targets were erected, and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Upon the arrival of each battalion the following details were made:

1. One officer in charge of the firing line, with a detail of one bugler for signaling and four scorers—one from each company.
2. One officer or non commissioned officer in charge of the rifle pit, with four markers—one from each company.
3. One officer in charge of ammunition, with two men to serve cartridges and to collect empty shells.
4. One Inspector of Rifles and two men to serve oil and waste.
5. One medical officer and two hospital stewards for emergencies.

The time consumed in issuing stores and giving instructions to the separate details occupied from fifteen minutes to one-half hour, during which time the rifles were cleaned and stacked ready for use.

The men were brought up to the firing line in fours, in regular sequence, one from each company, after their rifles had been inspected and ammunition issued.

At the signal "Commence firing" the men were instructed to fire at will, and if necessary were given instructions.

One blast of the bugle or shrill whistle was sounded after each round as a signal to mark and score, and two blasts of the bugle or whistle at the end of the last or fifth round as a signal to score and turn targets and for the next squad to take its place on the firing line.

The average time required by each squad on the firing line was five minutes, or one minute for each shot, and the total time required for each battalion at the range about four hours.

With twelve targets in operation and the same system of details it would be possible to give instructions and rifle practice to a whole regiment as easily as to a battalion.

In dealing with so many inexperienced men a constant source of danger arises from men pointing rifles at each other or carelessly laying them down where sand and grit may get into the barrels, and the only accident that occurred arose from some such cause, where several inches of the breech of one rifle was blown off by some obstruction in the barrel.

I found the men and officers very willing to obey instructions and deeply interested in the competition, and desire to express my thanks especially to Major Rawlins and Lieut. Hutton, of the Fifth Regiment, for very efficient assistance.

Very respectfully,

JOSIAH PIERCE, JR.,
Chief of Ordnance, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Report of Major L. M. Rawlins, Fifth Regiment Infantry, on Rifle Range, Rifle and Revolver Practice at Sea Girt, N. J., 1900.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH REGIMENT I., M. N. G.,

BALTIMORE, MD., September 19, 1900.

To the Adjutant General, State of Maryland,

Annapolis, Md.

SIR : Pursuant to Special Orders No. 80, Adjutant General's office, Annapolis, August 24, 1900, I have the honor to state that I proceeded to Sea Girt, N. J., August 28, 1900, and at 6.30 P. M. same day reported at Headquarters' Camp of Instruction in Rifle Practice. The order detailing me official representative of the State of Maryland to the ninth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Rifle Association was presented to the Post Commandant, Brigadier General Bird W. Spencer, Inspector General of Rifle Practice, New Jersey National Guard, who, upon reading same, placed himself, the Sea Girt range and its bureau of information entirely at my disposal. General Spencer in every way, from first to last day of the meeting, proved his appreciation of the compliment the State of Maryland paid the Sea Girt range commandant in detailing a representative to study and report on his method and range work system in general. He at all times gave any information desired relative to small arms, ammunition, rifle practice, and in short the whole question of range management. Long experience, close application and a wonderfully retentive memory have thoroughly equipped General Spencer for the peculiarly difficult position he holds and so well administers. The State of New Jersey should, and doubtless does, feel justly proud of her Inspector General of Rifle Practice and his admirable management of that department.

As directed in paragraph 2, S. O. No. 80, close attention was by me given to the rifle range subject and its whole management, both during the annual meeting of the New Jersey State Rifle Association and while in use by the National Guard.

If permitted I shall embrace with this report on range work, also a brief outline of the State camp ground, which with admirable forethought and inestimable practical effect is located immediately adjoining the Sea Girt rifle range.

State Camp Ground.

The State of New Jersey secured through condemnation the whole piece of ground running just one mile from a point near the Sea Girt Railroad Station to the ocean. It varies in width at the west end about 500 yards to about 300 yards, where the extreme range butts are located near the beach. This includes both camp ground and rifle range. Its cost was very nearly $80,000. The State has purchased a large warehouse immediately contiguous to the railroad in which the Quartermaster and Commissary departments are situated. Stores are unloaded direct from the cars. In this building there is also a refrigerator plant capable of preserving perishable food for more than 4,000 troops. The executive cottage ornaments the extreme northwest corner of the camp ground. Off on the southwest side are found permanent buildings, such as stables, feed barns, canteen and mess hall. The mess hall is a large, well ventilated, substantial building, capable of seating at one meal over 600 soldiers. A complete kitchen adjoins the mess hall. All cooking for the National Guard while in camp is done by competent cooks employed for the purpose, and not by the enlisted men. Notwithstanding the fact that the foundation of the ground is sand and absorbs heavy rains very quickly, there is a complete system of drainage through the camp. Great care is given to hygiene. The supply of disinfectants is liberal. Form No. 1 exhibits a copy of acts of the last New Jersey Legislature concerning the revision of the military and naval forces of the State of New Jersey.

His Excellency, Foster M. Voorhees, Governor and Commander-in-Chief, with his chief of staff, Adj. Gen. William S. Stryker, honored the Fifth Regiment Rifle Team in a most cordial visit of welcome to New Jersey, and expressed great pleasure at Maryland's interest in the Sea Girt range.

Governor Voorhees, through me as official representative of the State of Maryland, extended to His Excellency John Walter Smith, Governor of Maryland, the privileges of the New Jersey camp grounds and the Sea Girt range, for the purpose of there encamping a part or whole of the Maryland National Guard. In the name of the Governor and State of Maryland I thanked Governor Voorhees for his liberal offer, and stated that I would gladly be the bearer of his very generous invitation.

Sea Girt Rifle Range.

In order to fully appreciate the Sea Girt rifle range it must be seen. It is a beautiful stretch of level ground covered with thick, closely cut grass. From the main firing line to the extreme butts it is just over 600 yards long and nearly 300 yards wide. This includes the revolver and rifle ranges up to 600 yards. The firing lines for distances greater than 600 yards are at an angle off to the left and safely in rear of the main firing point. The butt for the greater distance is a prolongation of the 600 yard butt.

After acquiring the land no little labor was spent each successive year in gradually improving the range, until there now remains little that can add to its complete equipment.

Just back of the main firing line's centre stands the manager's office. He is in charge of all markers and scorers. A complete telephone system enables him to give directions to the markers at any target on the whole range. The wires are all underground.

The main firing line is marked by white painted stakes about four inches wide, ten inches above ground, each bearing in black letters or figures the corresponding target. In front of and against each stake is an embedded box two inches square and sufficiently deep to securely hold the staff of a danger flag. A powerful telescope, field glasses, wind vanes, streamers, portable blackboards for scoring practice and match firing, chalk, erasers, megaphone, buckets for empty shells, stools, benches, fly tents for shading spectators and those awaiting turn to fire, and the executive officers' tents complete the equipment at this point. Near the right of the firing line stands a very important building, the Range office. It is divided into separate compartments as follows: Magazine, tool room, gun room, statistical office, box office, locker room and mess room for markers and scorers.

In revolver practice the reduced "A" target is used in military shooting at 25, 50 and 75-yard ranges.

Targets "A" were used at 200 and 300-yard ranges; "B" at 500 and 600 yards; and "C" at distances over 600 yards. The dimensions of these targets were the same as given on page 147 of the United States Small Arms Firing Regulations (Blunt). Though the above targets were used during the meeting of the New Jersey State Rifle Association this year, the regulation silhouette targets "D," "E" and "F," shown on page 149, Blunt's Small Arms Firing Regulations, are used by the National Guard for qualification in the several classes of first and second class men, marksmen, sharpshooters and experts, as follows: 200 and 300 yards, the prone figure; 500 and 600 yards, kneeling figure; over 600 yards, the standing figure. In skirmish firing and volley firing the silhouette targets are also used, being cut out and pasted to canvas stretched over iron skeleton frames representing the outline of a soldier in the different positions of standing, kneeling and lying prone. The arrangement and method of conducting skirmish and volley firing are given on pages 4 and 5, form No. 3. The figure targets are arranged for volley firing as prescribed in paragraph 349, Blunt's Small Arms Fire Regulations.

The butts for all distances except the 600-yard are arranged in echelon, the 200-yard butt opposite the right of the firing line. This butt holds targets No. 1 to No. 24. The 300 yard butt 8 targets, No. 25 to No. 32; the 500-yard butt, 16 targets, No. 33 to No. 48. One hundred yards in rear of the 500 yard butt stands the 600-yard butt, 16 targets, No. 49 to No. 64, free and above the 500-yard targets. Adjoining the 600-yard butt, and uncovering the 500-yard, is placed the butt which holds the targets for distances greater than 600 yards up to 1,000 yards, 8 targets, No. 65 to No. 72.

In the construction of the butts sand is the principal element, yet they are sodded with grass on the near side. For additional safety they are provided with an interior crib and topped with a heavy iron plate about one inch thick, the width of the target, and embedded flush with the heavy wooden backing.

A platform about three feet below the surface of the ground runs the entire length of each butt. It is raised several inches from the excavation and sufficiently wide to permit of markers and range officers passing, and ample room to manipulate the targets. In the centre of each butt is built a fair size storehouse, in which all frames, targets and other paraphernalia are placed after the close of the shooting season. Scoring and marking in all cases is done by men employed for the purpose, and only after they are duly examined in their duties, and sworn to faithfully perform them, by Inspector General of Rifle Practice. See pages 20 and 21, form No. 2.

Cast iron target numbers four feet high rest on the slope of the butts directly under each target. They are painted white and greatly aid the marksmen in firing at correct target.

Through General Orders A. G. O., the Sea Girt range is, for a stated period, annually established a Camp of Instruction in Rifle Practice, under the command of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice. Following this, general orders are issued from Division Headquarters upon the recommendation of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice (see page 21, report of Inspector General of Rifle Practice), giving clear and specific instructions for the season's rifle practice to the commandants of all organizations. Rosters similar to form No. 4 must be forwarded to the Commandant of Camp of Instruction before May 1st. The Inspector General of Rifle Practice appoints range officers to assist him and issues orders regulating the management of the range for each season. (See pages 23 and 24, Inspector General's report.) Transportation is issued detachments upon requisition (form No. 5) by the Inspector General of Rifle Practice, so as to give each soldier one free conveyance to and from the range. The New Jersey railroad companies give a special rate of one and one-half cents per mile to the National Guardsmen. Under G. O., Headquarters, Camp of Instruction (page 24, form No. 2), certain days are specified for officers and men who desire to visit the range at their own expense for the purpose of practicing in their respective classes. Requests for tickets by railroad must be accompanied by funds for same at State rates. (See form No. 9.)

Upon the arrival of the detachments at the range, commandants of said detachments or companies at once make reports (on form No. 6), giving names of those present, and returning all unused tickets. Requisition (form No. 7) is made for return tickets at end of day's shooting. Individual scores of officers and men using the rifle are kept with indelible pencil on forms (see No. 10) furnished at range office. The printing on these forms being in copying ink, a permanent record can easily be secured. Form No. 11 is used and attached to form No. 10 when a soldier having expended in practice the full State allowance of ammunition, at his own expense succeeds in making a score which will improve his former classification.

Forms Nos. 12, 13 and 14 are used in recording scores made respectively by the cavalymen, company (infantry) volley firing and revolver practice. The "Rain Card" (form 15) in wet weather takes the place of the regulation score sheet. At the close of the day's shooting the scores are transcribed on the soldier's original score card.

The requirements for qualification in the several classes up to expert will be found on page 2, form No. 3. Qualification in revolver practice will be seen on same page and form.

The detachments are issued ammunition and assigned targets by orders from the Inspector General Rifle Practice. The targets are put in commission by telephone from the manager's office. The scorer seats himself at the firing point and calls out the first two names on his score sheet. The first man called places himself on the right, and is first to fire. The second man called stands on the left and follows the first man, shot for shot, until the string is ended.

The practice continues through the several classes with a State allowance of five strings, seven shots each at both 200 and 300 yards for marksmen; four strings of seven shots each at 500 and 600 yard ranges for sharpshooters; and two strings of seven shots each at 800 yard targets for experts. A total of 140 shots per man each year.

The badges given marksmen, sharpshooters and experts are described on page 8, form No. 3.

At the close of each day's practice all score cards, after being duly certified by Range Officer, are turned in to the Statistical Officer. They are filed in a neat case, with separate divisions for each organization. At the end of the season each score card is copied in press copy-book, thereby preserving in compact form a permanent record of the individual soldier's shooting.

New Jersey State Rifle Association.

This association is an independent corporate body, organized for the purpose of encouraging proficiency in rifle and revolver shooting. It owns a fine club house, located very near the firing line of the Sea Girt range, which adds greatly to the attractiveness of the place and much to the comfort of the riflemen. A copy of its by-laws is herewith exhibited in form No. 16.

Arrangements are made for annual meetings lasting from eight to ten days. Programs of the matches, with entry blanks (forms Nos. 17 and 18) are widely distributed throughout this and other countries, in an effort to bring together as many individual and team competitors as possible, representing the several States.

Forms like No. 19, called "pool tickets," are obtained by purchase at the box office. They are principally used just prior to team and individual matches, for the purpose of securing under existing conditions of light and wind the proper elevation and windage in the rifle sights. The scorers at all pool targets are given forms No. 20, which they manipulate according to instructions, giving a bull's-eye ticket to every marksman when one is made. For team practice "group pool" cards, forms No. 21 and 22, are likewise secured and worked as often as desired prior to commencement of team matches. Forms No. 23 to No. 29 are forwarded with this report in order to exhibit the style and make-up of score cards on which are recorded the results of the principal individual and team matches.

The ninth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Rifle Association was conducted by Brig. Genl. Bird W. Spencer as its executive officer. He displayed at all times most commendable ability. The whole meeting was a great success and highly satisfactory in every detail, with the possible exception of the skirmish run.

Realizing the condition in the Maryland National Guard concerning rifle practice, a rifle team was organized in the Fifth Regiment to attend the Sea Girt meeting for the purpose of gaining what experience they could that would be of value on a rifle range in this State, which appears to be a certainty in the near future. Had there been any previous doubts as to the totally inadequate facilities afforded the Maryland National Guard in this line, they were immediately dissipated in the initial experience of the team. Though the team presented itself greatly handicapped by the want of practice at the long ranges, its showing in the principal matches was as good as could be expected. That the team was composed of excellent material, no better evidence is wanted than that at the only distance over which it had so long practiced (200 yards) it excelled six teams and was beaten by only four teams.

The revolver team representing Troop "A" acquitted itself with great credit by winning second prize in the military revolver team match.

Very respectfully,

LOUIS M. RAWLINS,
*Major and Acting Inspector Rifle Practice,
Fifth Regiment I., M. N. G.*

Report of Capt. Joseph W. Shirley, Troop "A," on Revolver Practice at Sea Girt, N. J., 1900.

HEADQUARTERS TROOP "A," FIRST BRIGADE, M. N. G.,

BALTIMORE, MD., October 30, 1900.

The Adjutant General, State of Maryland,

Annapolis, Md.

SIR: I have the honor herewith to submit my account of expenses of revolver team sent by Troop "A," M. N. G., to Sea Girt, N. J., September 4 to 7, 1900, to take part in the revolver team match on September 6, 1900. I have also the honor to report the result of the match in scores made by the teams competing:

Teams.	Ranges			Total.
	25 Yds.	50 Yds.	75 Yds.
Light Battery "A," N. G., Mass.....	205	185	136	526
Troop "A," First Brigade, M. N. G....	205	162	113	480
Squadron "A," N. G., New York.....	203	162	105	470

It will be seen from the accompanying account that the team of Troop "A" was awarded a second prize, amounting to twenty-five (25) dollars, and that a balance of $22.25 is now on hand.

In order to encourage work in revolver practice in the Troop I have the honor to recommend that the said balance of $22.25 be appropriated for the purpose of purchasing a suitable trophy or trophies for revolver contests in Troop "A."

Very respectfully,

(Signed)

JOSEPH W. SHIRLEY,
Captain Commanding.

Report of Major L. M. Rawlins, Fifth Regiment Infantry, on Rifle Range and Rifle Practice, at Sea Girt, N. J., 1901.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH REGIMENT I., M. N. G.,

DEPARTMENT OF RIFLE PRACTICE.

BALTIMORE, MD., Nov. 30, 1901.

*To the Adjutant General, State of Maryland,
Annapolis, Md.*

Sir: Pursuant to request from Brigade Headquarters, under date of November 22, 1901, I have the honor to submit herewith a report of results obtained by the Fifth Regiment Rifle Team while under my charge in attendance at the tenth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Rifle Association, Sea Girt, N. J., August 30 to September 7, 1901.

First, it should be clearly understood that the principal object in view was to again prove, as was done in a similar visit in 1900, that in the matter of rifle practice the Maryland National Guard, in comparison with other States, is quietly resting near the bottom rung of the ladder. And in proving that, demonstrate that our National Guard should be given without delay a well-equipped rifle range, with all ranges, from 25 yards for revolver practice to 1,000 yards for the army rifle. If it is desired that our rifle-men rank with those from other States, they must be given equal facilities. The team members to a man gave a great deal of time and labor in what preparation we could get for attendance at these two meetings, knowing full well that with extremely limited range facilities and limited ammunition that we would be beaten, and badly so, too, by our more fortunate opponents, who are liberally cared for in all that pertains to instruction and encouragement in rifle practice—more important than all else in a soldier's training.

The team was taken to Sea Girt three days before their first team match in order to get all the practice possible.

On Monday, September 2d, they entered team of twelve men to contest in the Hilton Trophy Match, and managed to land ninth—eleven teams in the race—ahead of teams from the States of Rhode Island and Ohio.

Twenty-one teams entered the Regimental Team Match on Tuesday, September 3d. Maryland was represented by two teams from the Fifth Regiment, six men on each team, and had the satisfaction of beating out six teams with the first team and two with the second team.

In the Interstate Match Maryland was represented by a team of twelve men, with eleven contesting teams, and by hard work improved their position in the same match of last year by landing in ninth instead of tenth place. This match was shot on Wednesday, September 4th, and the team consisted entirely of men from the Fifth Regiment.

The arrival at Sea Girt during the meeting of Adjutant General Saunders and Brigadier General Riggs while our team was contesting against such heavy odds greatly cheered the men, and when authority was given to secure more ammunition the good effect became apparent at once, for better results from all of the men's scores followed.

The general showing made by the men as individuals, and as a team, was more than satisfactory. The material for experts with the Krag rifle is just as surely in the Maryland National Guard as it exists in other States. The men went to Sea Girt sadly lacking the spirit of confidence which so often wins from the timid. They were, however, imbued with a stern determination to do their very best, hoping that their efforts would be recognized at home, and that the outcome of their rather humiliating position would be a well organized department of rifle practice, active and effective, as a branch of the Maryland National Guard, and that a creditable rifle range be a part of its possessions as early as possible.

A great deal of practical experience was absorbed by the several members, which can only be secured by being thrown with the crack shots of the country at such meetings.

The whole National Guard of Maryland is anxious for instruction and encouragement in rifle practice. The organization of a department of rifle practice and the possession of a satisfactory rifle range cannot come too quickly.

I have the honor to be, sir,

Very respectfully,

LOUIS M. RAWLINS,

Major and Acting Regimental Inspector of Rifle Practice.

Report of Capt. Joseph W. Shirley, Troop "A," on Rifle and Revolver Practice, at Sea Girt, N. J., 1901.

TROOP "A" (First Brigade), M. N. G.,

PIKESVILLE, MD., Nov. 29, 1901.

The Adjutant General, First Brigade, M. N. G.,

Baltimore, Md.

SIR: In obedience to your communication of November 22, 1901, I have the honor to herewith submit in duplicate a report of the results obtained by the revolver and carbine teams of Troop A., at Sea Girt, from August 30 to September 6, 1901.

The teams, composed of two officers and six enlisted men, arrived at the Sea Girt range on the afternoon of August 30, 1901, and were assigned to very comfortable quarters in the camp, provided by the Association, and received their meals at a restaurant on the grounds at the rate of $1 per day per man.

The first of the matches to be shot was the Revolver Team match, which began at 2 P. M. Saturday, August 31st, and as our team did not reach the range until the afternoon of the day previous the only opportunity for practice before entering the match was during Saturday morning.

The conditions of the match were as follows: Teams of five men from single organizations. Thirty shots were allowed each man, ten shots at each of the following ranges: Twenty-five, fifty and seventy-five yards, at the U. S. Army two hundred-yard target reduced to one hundred yards. The highest possible score for any one team was seven hundred and fifty points.

The weather conditions were excellent, and the match started with six teams entered. The result is given below:

Light Battery A., Mass.	.	.	.	Score	596
City Troop, Philadelphia, Pa.	.	.	.	"	560
Troop A, First Brigade, M. N. G.	.	.	.	"	545
Squadron A, New York	.	.	.	"	542
Fourth Regiment Infantry, New Jersey	.	.	.	"	502
First Troop, New Jersey	.	.	.	"	473

The result of the match was highly satisfactory and showed a very great improvement upon the work of the year previous, when the match resulted as follows:

Light Battery A, Mass.	. . .	Score	526
Troop A, Md.	. . .	"	480
Squadron A, N. Y.	. . .	"	470

By comparison, the advance made by the teams engaged in both matches may be seen to be:

Light Battery A, Mass.	. . .	Score	70 points.
Troop A, Md.	. . .	"	65 "
Squadron A, N. Y.	. . .	"	73 "

Much of the improvement made by the team of Troop A was due to the team using the Smith & Wesson new army revolvers, which were issued the Troop during the past summer. Should the team have received this equipment of revolvers a month earlier the improvement would have been more marked.

The team representing the Troop in the match was composed of Captain Joseph W. Shirley, Sergeant Frank G. Evans, Sergeant Norman Stump, Corporal Robert Garrett, Corporal Samuel J. Fort.

Systematic practice was engaged in with the carbine as often as possible, and considering the handicap under which the Maryland troops were laboring, that of not having a range at which practice could be intelligently carried on, the results obtained in the matches showed good work.

The first match in which the carbine team was entered was held on Tuesday, September 3, 1900, and was termed as "Company Team Match." This match was entered principally for sake of practice, the detailed result of which I am unable to obtain.

The Carbine Team Match was shot on Thursday, September 5th, the conditions being that the teams be composed of five men each, from separate organizations, armed with the carbine.

The number of shots were ten for each man, five at each two hundred and five hundred yards, with highest possible score for one team of two hundred and fifty points.

There were six teams entered in this match, and below are given the scores resulting:

First Troop, N. J. N. G.	. . .	Score	205
Squadron Penn, Cal.	. . .	"	205
Squadron A, N. Y. N. G.	. . .	"	184
Troop A, M. N. G.	. . .	"	180
Battery A, Field Art., N. J. N. G.	. . .	"	167
" B, " " "	. . .	"	163

Troop A's team was composed of C. L. Rogers, Jr. (Lieut.), Sergeant Norman Stump, Corporal Robert Garrett, Corporal Samuel J. Fort, Private J. L. Nichodemus.

It will be seen that the teams standing best in the foregoing match were representatives of States which give much attention to rifle practice and are equipped with more or less up-to-date ranges for the purpose.

I am of the opinion that with a liberal supply of ammunition, and with good indoor revolver and outdoor rifle ranges, that the Maryland National Guards will push forward in its work in target practice, and will in a short time take its place well to the front in records of marksmanship.

I have the honor also herewith to submit an account of the expense incurred by the teams while on this duty. The account covers the total expense of the team with the exception of one man, who desired to stand his own expense.

All members of the team were at Sea Girt from August 30 to September 6 with the exception of Captain Shirley and Sergeant Evans, who were compelled to return to Baltimore on September 2, 1901.

In the revolver team match Troop A came third, and won as a prize the sum of $10, which I recommend be set aside with the amount won in 1900, for the purpose of purchasing a prize or prizes for the troop to contest for, and thus stimulate further work in this line.

I wish to mention at this time the courteous treatment received at the hands of the New Jersey State Rifle Association in the entertaining and providing for the comfort of the teams, and I consider that the experience received and results obtained were highly satisfactory.

Very respectfully,

JOSEPH W. SHIRLEY,
Captain, Commanding.

Report of Practice March, Troop "A,"

PIKESVILLE, MD., November 23, 1900.

The Adjutant General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

SIR: I have the honor to submit report of practice march made by Squad No. 2 of Troop "A," First Brigade, M. N. G., and a few others of our troop, from August 18 to August 30, 1900, inclusive.

By authority obtained by Captain Shirley from headquarters First Brigade, M. N. G., the surgeon, first lieutenant and sixteen enlisted men, with two cooks, two teamsters and one attendant, left the armory at Pikesville, in full marching order, Saturday, August 18, 1900, at 2:20 o'clock, P. M., on a practice march of thirteen days, through Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Subsistence was purchased by our Quartermaster Sergeant E. A. Cockey, at points on line of march.

Forage was similarly arranged for by Sergeant W. B. Cockey and Farrier Stump, who were detailed to that work.

All expenses were met by men making the march, except one hundred and thirty five dollars, which was appropriated by the Adjutant General of the State to cover expenses of transportation and trumpeter.

The transportation consisted of a six mule team with two teamsters. A four-ton broad tread wagon was used.

Tents carried consisted of one officer's tent, two Sibley tents and one shelter tent.

A guard, sufficiently strong for protection of men, horses and property, was maintained night and day at all camps.

Squad assembled, according to orders, at Pikesville Armory, at 2 o'clock, P. M., on August 18, 1900. After the surgeon weighed men, squad marched, at 2:20 P. M., to Cooksville, Howard county, a distance of twenty-seven miles. One hour and thirty minutes after arrival of wagon camp was pitched, horses fed and attended to, supper over and everything in order for night.

At 8 o'clock, A. M., August 19th, we broke camp and marched, by way of the Frederick pike, to New Market, a distance of fifteen miles, where we halted to feed horses and eat sandwiches, which served for our midday meal. Frederick was reached at 4 o'clock, P. M.—a distance of twenty-four miles. Camp was pitched on the Fair Grounds.

Squad left Frederick on the morning of August 20th, at 8 o'clock, and marched over the Jefferson pike to Harper's Ferry, $23\frac{3}{4}$ miles, where we stopped to rest, feed and lunch. From the Ferry, by way of Charlestown pike, we made Charlestown, where we went into camp on a farm belonging to Col. Colston, having covered $31\frac{1}{4}$ miles.

On the morning of 21st, at 9:30 o'clock, we broke camp and started on our march to Winchester, a distance of thirty miles, where we went into camp for the night. Forage wagon, with detail, went by way of Charlestown pike to Berryville, then by way of Winchester pike. The squad took county road to Summit Point, then down Berryville pike to Capt. R. O. Allen's, where we had been invited to lunch, and spent about two and a half hours very delightfully. Then on to camp.

Broke camp at Winchester on the morning of August 22d, at 8:30 o'clock, and marched to Capon, our objective point, a distance of twenty-eight miles, arriving at 4 o'clock, P. M. We made one halt for rest, etc., about eighteen miles west of Winchester. Camp was pitched on top of the mountain, just back of the hotel and about four hundred yards from same. The camp site was a good one, except that the water had to be hauled, which the management of the hotel had done for us. The next three days, August 23d, 24th and 25th, were pleasantly and profitably spent here. A drill of one hour was given each day, and on Saturday a detachment gave an exhibition of fancy riding in front of hotel, and a more than creditable one it proved to be, Sergeant Rogers and Corporal Gelsten doing especially good work.

The roads were good, but hilly as far as Harper's Ferry. Condition of the soil excellent. Farms well kept and well worked. An abundance of timber and good water. The roads from Harper's Ferry to Capon were excellent. Country rolling and fertile. Water sufficient, but not abundant. Timber rather scarce.

Sunday morning we broke camp and started on our march for home, striking camp at same points made going, arriving at armory, Pikesville, on August 30th, at 3:30 o'clock.

Our surgeon weighed men on return, and found they had made an average gain of one pound per man.

Total distance covered was 280 miles.

The routine work of squad was :

Reveille,	5:30 A. M.
Water Call,	5:44 " "
Breakfast,	6:30 " "
General Call.	7:00 " "
Boots and Saddles,	7:30 " "
Assembly,	7:45 " "

At Capon our routine was one hour later.

The rations consisted of beef, ham, lamb, fried chicken, bacon, eggs, corn cakes, corn bread, wheat bread, butter, coffee, milk, honey and vegetables.

Two meals, with sandwiches, while on the march, were had each day at a cost of 33.9 cents per man per day.

The forage consisted of oats and hay, at a cost of 31.9 cents per day per horse.

The following is a statement of expenses :

Transportation,	$100 00
Subsistence,	101 51
Forage,	99 49
Pay of trumpeter,	19 50
Hire of trumpeter's horse,	9 00
Incidentals and toll,	40 50
	$370 00

The health of the men was perfect, which was largely due to the efficient and watchful services of our surgeon, Captain Hill.

Much commendation is due our quartermaster, who attended to his duties more than creditably.

Sergeant W. B. Cockey and Farrier Stump, who were detailed to attend to the purchase and care of forage, deserve much credit for the excellent manner in which they did their work.

Detail to look after accounts and money were : Sergeant Thos. Cradock and Corporal Evans, who did their work thoroughly and correctly.

During the whole march the discipline was perfect, and the manner in which the men conducted themselves, while on and off duty, was most commendable and highly gratifying.

Men and horses, notwithstanding the heat, kept in good health and spirits, and returned in better shape than when they started, except one horse which was injured, not permanently, by being kicked on fore leg.

We were given a dance at the Powhatan Hotel, at Charlestown, by Mr. Ad. Allen and others, and were entertained all along the line, especially in Virginia and West Virginia. At Capon we were entertained by the guests of the hotel as well as by the manager, Mr. Nelson, who gave us a dinner and dance. Many of the guests messed with us in camp. At all camps we had ladies and gentlemen mess with us. These little exchange of courtesies gave us an opportunity to know the people and them a chance to know us, which, I think, will prove beneficial to us in the future.

I feel that the record bears credit to our Adjutant-General.

Respectfully,

C. LYON ROGERS, JR.,
First Lieut. Troop "A," M. N. G.

Report of Commanding Officer, Naval Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS NAVAL BRIGADE, M. N. G.,

BALTIMORE, MD., December 3, 1901.

SIR: I have the honor to report the condition of this Brigade for year ending 1901. For the several duties performed I respectfully refer you to the report of the Executive Officer, herewith enclosed. The Brigade at this time is badly in need of clothes. After the return of the men from the American-Spanish War an order was issued by your department stating that all clothes given to the men when sent to the war were theirs; hence, when we reorganized after the war, only the few who returned brought their clothes with them, and there being no available funds to reequip, the Brigade has necessarily suffered. The condition of all clothes on hand now is consequently in poor condition and cannot be replaced unless the State will make an adequate appropriation. We have two large vessels, loaned by the U. S. Government, and fourteen small boats to keep in order and repair, and necessarily it takes paint to do this. The labor part of it is performed by the ship keepers sent us by the U. S. Government, and every effort is made to save the State's money. During the past year the Brigade has been out on parades, and on July 12th was ordered by special order from your office to report at Annapolis on the morning of the 13th to troops to the State Camp. We took one hundred and ten officers and men from Annapolis to Camp Smith, returning to Baltimore and towing the Dale to the Chester river and anchored off Queenstown. During the State Encampment routine ship work and drills were carried out. After the breaking of camp we took these troops back to Annapolis and landed them at the Naval Academy's wharf, leaving at once, and the next day towing the Dale to Baltimore.

I respectfully request that some effort be made to increase the appropriation for this Brigade to $10,000 a year. After eight years of hard work I find it impossible to carry on the work of this kind on the appropriation made by this Legislature of $5,000. It is simply a matter of impossibilities, using the strictest economy, as no money is spent without the authority of your office, and, you sir, know that it is impossible to keep out of debt with this small appropriation, and unless the Legislature makes some effort to increase the appropriation I respectfully propose, sir, that you issue orders disbanding the organization.

I am, sir,

Your obedient servant,

EDWIN GEER,

Commodore, Commanding.

Adjutant General, Annapolis, Md.

Report of Executive Officer, Naval Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST NAVAL BRIGADE, M. N. G.,

Armory, East Baltimore Street,

BALTIMORE, MD., December 2, 1901.

SIR: I have to report that during the past year this Brigade has performed the several duties hereinafter stated. All the small boats are housed excepting four, which are still being used.

The condition of the Dale is much better since she was docked by the Baltimore Dry Dock Company last spring, when she was sheathed with three strips of copper and patched with same where needed; her hull is now much tighter and she takes in but little water, pumping being necessary but about once in every eight or ten days.

The Dale has also been painted outside since last report. The hull and housing of the Sylvia were also painted when she was in dock last spring. The condition of the Sylvia would be very satisfactory were her engines overhauled and put in order.

On October 3d and 4th all rifles, cutlasses and artillery were removed to the armory, on Baltimore street, where drills are now being held during the winter season.

On March 3d the Brigade went to Washington to participate in the inauguration ceremonies, parading as infantry and artillery; 232 officers and men took part.

On October 19th the Brigade paraded on the occasion of the unveiling of the monument erected to the soldiers of 1812, on Mt. Royal avenue. During the summer the Sylvia made weekly trips to points on the bay. The average attendance on these trips being six officers and twenty-five men. Seamanship, target practice and duties pertaining to shipboard were taught on these trips. On July 11th the Brigade left foot of Charles street for the summer cruise at Queenstown. The Sylvia's crew consisted of seven officers and forty men and petty officers. The Dale's crew consisted of nine officers and ninety men and petty officers. The cruise ended July 20th. Boat work, signalling, target practice and ship's routine were carried out.

On July 10th the Brigade received a steam launch from the League Island Navy Yard; she has proved to be very serviceable and a first-class boat.

The condition of the armory, on Baltimore street, is such that it is impossible to keep it heated. The roof is open, and consequently heat cannot be retained within the building ; this occasions a hardship to the men, who, during cold weather, find it impossible to keep warm.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

H. F. HARRISON,
Lieut. Comd'r and Executive Officer.

To Commander Edwin Geer,
Commanding Naval Brigade, M. N. G.
